With the publication of data corresponding to February 2008 a change in the release dates for Balance of Payments data will take place. Monthly data will be disseminated with a two-month lag and with less detail than at present. Also, a more detailed quarterly Balance of Payments will be disseminated with a lag of one quarter and will include the current breakdown of Services by type of service and by geographical area. These changes will first take effect in the month of April, when January data will be published as usual on the 15th together with the quarterly data on Services and February data will be published on the 30th together with a more simplified monthly, and a more detailed quarterly, Balance of Payments with data up to December 2007.
